Coach Training

Make Every Conversation More Effective and Unlock Potential Lasting Impact

COACH TRAINING

Flourish offers a coach training certification process, approved by the International Coaching Federation (ICF) because of our commitment to equipping leaders and providing resources that nurture flourishing ministries. Having a coach can be a powerful asset in ministry and discipleship. More and more pastors and leaders are recognizing the value of a quality coach. Learn to cultivate new skills, lead staff, mentor young leaders, mobilize volunteers and teams more strategically, and improve as a counselor. This training will help you to develop and deploy your coaching as a leader in all areas of your life, both personally and professionally, whether you are a pastor, elder, or church leader.

The Flourish Coach Training process uses curriculum approved by ICF for a foundational level of training that takes about six months to complete either virtually or in-person. Upon completion of the training, participants receive a coaching certification through Flourish and have the opportunity to enroll in advanced level coach training courses. Credentialed coaches, displaying exemplary skills, may be added to a resource list of recommended coaches to assist congregations, pastors, and other ministry leaders in a variety of ministry contexts. Some participants may be able to apply the coach training process for MDiv or DMin credit.

MENTORSHIP

Coaching cannot be learned only in a seminar. Participants will be coached themselves and practice coaching others. They will then reflect and build on those coaching experiences with other participants and work closely with coach mentors (ICF accredited coaches who are part of a nationwide group which works to train new coaches). Participants interact with their coach mentors to learn principles of coaching, receive feedback on their skills, and refine their coaching techniques.

TRAINING & DEVELOPMENT

- Participants who enroll in Flourish's foundational level of ICF training attend a two-day kick-off (virtual or in-person).
- After the two day training, the group will meet for one hour over Zoom (6 to 8 times) to continue to practice their skills.
- Participants will coach two individuals and record three sessions, over the course of six months and continue to dialogue with their Coach Mentor
- Once you have completed this level of ICF training, you are eligible to enroll in advanced level courses to work toward ICF levels of accreditation.
